Jae Hyung Cho New US 3-Cushion Champion

by Bob Jewett

The 2010 US National 3-Cushion Championship was held February 17-21 at the Tacoma Elks Lodge. Play was on five heated Verhoeven tables covered with super-fast Simonis 300 cloth and Aramith Pro tournament balls. The Lodge was an outstanding host for the event and provided bleacher seating for spectators, staff to clean the equipment after each match, scorekeepers, ticket-takers, lunch and dinner buffets, and free practice time for all participants. Charles Brown, USBA Director from New York, did his usual accurate and efficient job as Tournament Director and Master of Ceremonies. Tiger Products provided gloves and cue wraps for all the players through their player representative Mazin Shooni.

As a special treat, Tacoma member Tom "Huf" Hofstedt was on hand to draw caricatures of all the players. Tom also produced an excellent program booklet for the event.

The 35 entrants were mostly players who had won qualifiers around the country, but also included the four top finishers from 2009 and a few open entrants who had played in qualifiers but had not won. They were grouped into five groups of seven players for round-robins with 25-point matches. One top finisher from 2009 was seeded into each group.

The prelims produced one major surprise as defending champion Hugo Patino failed to advance. He lost matches to 2005 champion Sonny Cho and to Min Jae Pak, who had put in a top-notch performance at the USBA Tour stop in August at Carom Cafe in New York with a 1.3 average.

In another group, last year's runner-up Pedro Piedrabuena was totally dominant as he didn't let any of his 6 opponents get to 10 points. Jae Hyung Cho ran a 7 against Pedro to tie at 7 points, but then Pedro shifted gears to win 25-9 in only 10 innings.

Two players from each group advanced to the 10-player final round-robin, which had matches to 40 points. Besides Piedrabuena, Sonny Cho and Miguel Torres had been undefeated in their prelim groups, while Carlos Hallon, Michael Kang, Mazin Shooni, Min Jae Pak, George Ashby, and Jae Hyung Cho advanced with 5-1 records. John Jacobson advanced from a 3-way tie for second in his group based on a most-points tie-breaker. Of the 10 finalists, six were former US Champions.

Live streaming to the Internet of the finals was provided by OTBnTV.com, allowing hundreds of fans to keep up with the action and scores. Commentary for each match helped anyone new to the game to catch up on the intricacies of shots including position play and safeties.

Tom "Dr. Cue" Rossman was on hand to give one of his excellent trick shot shows between rounds. Along with USBA Directors Bruce Warner and Henry Ugartechea, Tom manned the microphones for the commentary during the live streaming.

Going into the final round of five matches, Piedrabuena and Jae Hyung Cho both had 8-1 records, while all the other players had at least two losses. This meant that the rematch between Pedro and Jae would determine the new champion. (In round-robin play, it's possible for equal win-loss records to happen, in which case a play-off would have been necessary to determine first and second places.)

In getting to the championship match, Jae Hyung Cho turned in the best game of the final rounds with 40 points in 21 innings against 2006 champ Mazin Shooni. Mazin had an excellent 1.600 average in that game, so he just caught Cho at the wrong time. Cho's sole loss was to Miguel Torres. For his part, Piedrabuena got to the finals with the highest grand average and a 1.739 game against 3-time former champ George Ashby. Pedro's only loss had been to Shooni.

Cho led through most of the final match. Piedrabuena rallied at the end, scoring 10 points while Cho was at 39, but an 18-point deficit proved insurmountable. Jae Hyung Cho became the 2010 US Champion with a 40-32 score.

The grand average of all players in the finals was 0.987. For more details, visit the US Billiard Association website at www.USBA.net.

Miguel Torres, Jae Hyung Cho and Pedro Piedrabuena with trophies from 2010 USBA National Championship Final

Fellow Members of The USBA, Greetings:

As your new president I would like to say that I am looking forward to working for and with you during the next four years. And also to be working with the new board whose energy and drive excites me tremendously, to say nothing of Jim Shovak our dedicated Sec/Treas.

We have plans for both another Jr's Championship and a Women's Championship. Felipe Razon is working on the former and Bob Byrne on the latter. Anybody who wants to work in these areas let me know. George Theobald is doing research on how other professional sports organizations induct people into their Halls of Fame. Again, if this is an area you would like to work on, let me know. Tom Paley is working in the area of historical research. Any document or pictures you might have would be greatly appreciated. They can be sent via Internet as data files or as hard copy that will be returned to you after copying.

This year's tour looks to be bigger and better than ever. Any donations would be gladly accepted. Send them to Jim.

I would encourage all of you to participate more on the forum at usba.net. I will be posting regularly there, especially about topics that are under discussion by the board. Your opinions on these subjects will be greatly valued.

Please feel free to call me at 743-428-1161 anytime if you want to talk to me. Or e-mail me through the forum.

Yours in billiards,
Dennis Dieckman

The Basics of Position Play

by Robert Byrne

Contributing Writer • from Byrne's "Advanced Techniques in Pool & Billiards" with permission

Many if not most casual three-cushion players spend their lives without ever trying to leave themselves an easy shot. They think ahead in that they try not to leave the other guy anything.

On some shots, trying for position reduces the chance of scoring, but the risk may be worth it in view of the award.

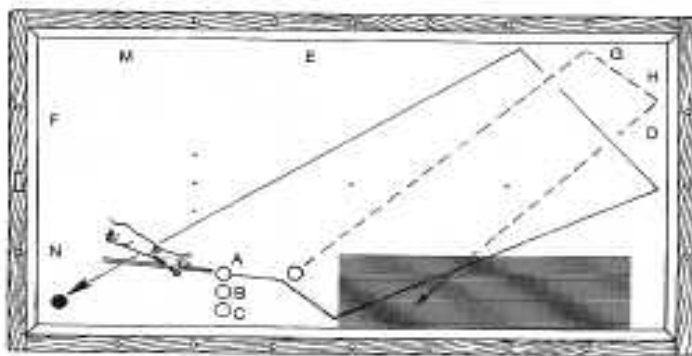

When faced with a relatively easy shot think position.

In this diagram the black ball is big in the corner, and with cue ball at A, this is a very easy shot, thanks to the size of the final target. An easy position pattern calls for driving the first object ball along the dashed path so that it ends up in the shaded zone, while at the same time making the cue ball land softly on the red. If both of these ends are accomplished, there will be another good shot the great majority of the time.

In other words, try to gather the three balls. If you can't, try to leave the first object ball in the center of the table. If that isn't practical, leave all three along a long rail. And if you can't do that, drop the first ball into a corner

Rip's Tips

Force Follow Level Cue

Sorry folks, but unless you are in a trick shot pool contest or Artistic billiard show, this shot is illegal! It would be ok to masse this shot so let's call this a level cue masse and then it will be ok. Hit the cue ball at the 52 minute mark and follow through about 8 inches, (after cocking your aim to the right a bit), and notice how the cue ball reacts. I think you'll get an appreciation for the force follow shot, oops... I meant to say Level Cue Masse Shot.
